JURY SELECTED IN GEO. A. ELDER CASE

First of Koochiching Change of Venue Cases Now on Trial before Judge W. S. McClenahan

Farmers Predominate on the Jury, Senator Adams Objects to Atty. Gen Palmers Opening Statement

At 11:10 Tuesday morning the jury was selected in the case of Geo. A. Elder, Duluth bond broker charged with bribery of a county official of Koochiching county, being the first of the Koochiching cases to be heard in Crow Wing county on a change of venue.

Farmers predominate on the jury whose selection occupied about a day.

- ♦ The jury includes, in the order of their acceptance:
- ♦ Ludwig Anderson of Pelican, farmer.
- ♦ Emil Johnson of Platte Lake, farmer.
- ♦ I. Bjornas of Crosby, farmer.
- ♦ James Davis of Brainerd, foreman of the paint shop at the Northern Pacific railway shops.
- ♦ Chris Knutson, Pequot, farmer.
- ♦ Charles Cole, Brainerd, machinist of the railway shops.
- ♦ Fred Anderson, St. Mathias, farmer.
- ♦ W. W. Winter, Brainerd, carpenter.
- ♦ Henry Grimes, Fort Ripley, hardware store.
- ♦ George Cline, Ideal, farmer.
- ♦ Steve Rouse, Daggett Brook, farmer.
- ♦ H. M. Haff, Lake Edward, farmer and at one time a tie inspector.

For the state there appear John E. Palmer, of St. Paul, assistant attorney general, and N. B. Arnold of International Falls. Mr. Palmer conducts the prosecution.

For the defense there appear Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth, F. J. McPartlin of International Falls and Alderman Clark of Brainerd. Senator Adams conducts the defense. Mal D. Clark examined the jury.

The case is expected to last two and a half to three days. Koochiching county pays all costs of this case heard in Crow Wing county, according to the provisions of the law governing such cases as passed by the last legislature, thus offering considerable relief to expectant taxpayers in Crow Wing county.

Assistant Attorney General Palmer made the opening address, but it was punctuated by objections vehemently made by Senator Adams who objected to the latitude of the remarks made.

The indictment charges that Elder offered a bribe of $50 to P. H. Fogarty, county treasurer of Koochiching county, to influence his official actions in allowing and permitting Elder, who was then and there pretending to act as fiscal agent of Koochiching county in the sale and disposition of its issue of $765,000, 5 1/2 per cent judicial ditch bonds, to pay for such bonds with certificates of deposit bearing interest at 4 per cent secured by such county ditch bonds bearing interest at 5 1/2 per cent in order that he, Elder, might receive and secure the difference of 1 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Palmer took up a recital of what the state expected to prove and traced the alleged movements of Elder and charged he also called himself the Commercial Investment Co. and the Duluth Security Co.

Time and again Senator Adams objected to the line of reasoning of Mr. Palmer and the court permitted the state to go on. The court told the jury that statements by counsel were not evidence in the case. The jury in disposing of the case must only consider the evidence.

Mr. Adams then objected to various remarks of counsel for the prosecution. At length Mr. Palmer concluded and adjournment was taken to the afternoon. The balance of the jurors was excused until 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

WILL TRAIN IN OCTOBER

Orders Are Issued for Assembling New Army.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The entire 837,000 men composing the first increment of the army draft forces will be under training early in October.

Under orders issued the first 30 per cent of the quota of each district will begin entrainment for cantonments Sept. 6; the next 30 per cent Sept. 15, another 30 per cent Sept. 30. The remainder will be mobilized as soon thereafter as possible.

The plan to assemble the new forces in three increments distributes the task of furnishing supplies and equipment through September. It also will prevent serious shortages in any camp and will give the new officers from the training camps time to familiarize themselves with their duties.

The order issued means that about 12,000 men will reach each of the sixteen cantonments soon after Sept. 5. They first will be examined physically by army doctors and finally accepted or rejected.

TO CONSERVE FOOD SUPPLY

Petrograd Officials May Drive Out Idle Population.

Petrograd, Aug. 14.—A partial evacuation of Petrograd by idle and non-productive elements of the population, to alleviate the economic crisis which daily is becoming more acute, was favorably considered by the government at a conference here and the question referred to the minister of justice for approval.

To ameliorate the food shortage such a measure is absolutely necessary, according to the conclusions reached by the government.

JAPANESE REACH PACIFIC PORT

War Mission Is Given Rousing Reception.

ALLIES IN COMMON CAUSE

Viscount Ishii, Responding to an Address of Welcome From the Mayor, Asserts Visitors Are Here on Errand of Friendship and Good Will.

A Pacific Port, Aug. 14.—A Japanese mission to the United States arrived here and proclaimed, almost at the moment of landing, that its members came officially "as comrades in a gigantic struggle which involves the liberties and the sacred rights of mankind."

"We are here," declared Viscount K. Ishii, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary, responding to an address of welcome from the mayor, "on a mission of friendship and good will. We come as allies in a common cause."

"We are particularly glad to be here just at this time," he said, "when all America is showing a courage, patriotism, energy and whole hearted zeal. Naturally Japan is interested in your preparations."

"We have already had confidence in the fundamental justice, sound sense and broad vision of Americans. We are glad of your preparations on land and sea because we believe they mean an earlier peace."

Officials Greet Visitors.

Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary, and Gavin McNab, a Washington attorney, sent with representatives of the army and navy, met the distinguished passengers.

With them were Masanao Hanihara, consul general at a Pacific port; Tadanao Inai, vice consul from another port, both assigned to membership on the mission, of which the other members are Vice Admiral T. Takashima, Major General H. Huzano, Matsuzo Nagai, secretary of the foreign office; Commander M. Ando and Colonel K. Takikawa.

Lines of cavalrymen rode beside the automobiles which escorted the mission to the city hall, while thousands of spectators crowded the sidewalks for a glimpse of the commissioners.

Applause greeted each member of the mission as he was presented by the mayor to the people, but when Viscount Ishii made his declaration of alliance and friendship it rose to a roar as the crowd caught the significance of his utterance.

Russian Premier Realizes His Days Are Numbered.

London, Aug. 14.—Russian circles in Switzerland, a dispatch to the Daily Express from Geneva says, learns from Petrograd that Premier Kerensky in talking with friends recently concerning his health said:

"I have not long to live. Heredity and disease have numbered my days. I must hasten the work of liberating Russia and do the greatest good I can before I depart."

"Peace now would make us future vassals of the kaiser, which would be worse than being vassals of the Russian emperor."

KAISER'S CABLE TO WILSON MADE PUBLIC

Washington, Aug. 14.—The state department made public a copy of the telegram sent by the German emperor to President Wilson in August, 1914, in which the kaiser said the "neutrality of Belgium had to be violated by Germany on strategic grounds."

The telegram, in the kaiser's own handwriting, was transmitted to the president through Ambassador Gerard. It came to light through the publication of Mr. Gerard's memoirs.

The state department's action comes as a counter to the German denial that such a telegram exists.

The whole affair evidently has created the greatest consternation in Berlin. The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, semi-official organ of the German government, was quoted in a Berlin dispatch as denying the existence of such a telegram.

A dispatch from Copenhagen quotes the Copehagen Gazette as saying the German government soon will issue an explanation of the telegram.

The state department's action came without comment. The message was given out as it was received by cable.

A plea in the interests of longevity for infantine bovines, otherwise calves and the lamb that Mary immortalized will be made by the women of Brainerd who are associated with and working under the direction of Mrs. R. B. Withington, chairman of the woman's auxiliary of the Public Safety commission and the public as well as market men will be urged to cooperate.

Signs, recommending that veal chops and lamb steaks be forgotten for a time, at least during the period of the present world war, will be placed in a number of butcher shops of the city and the public is expected to forgo these table luxuries, in order that a practical movement in the interests of food conservation, inaugurated by the government and being put into operation in every state of the union, may be carried out successfully.

What it Means

The consumer is not aware of what he really does when he buys veal for his table. The ordinary calf weighs about 110 lbs. and will produce about 66 lbs. of veal. You eat part of this calf. This same youngster, if given an opportunity to grow to the age of a marketable steer will weigh 1500 lbs. If you do not buy veal, the butcher will not feel it necessary to carry it and the calf will grow into 975 lbs. of beef instead of 66 lbs. of veal.

The Lamb

Take the case of the lamb. The amount of wool on a lamb is just one-half of the wool on a sheep. Your country needs wool for clothing the army, the navy and yourself. Permit the lamb to reach an age of maturity and you increase the production of wool as well as mutton, you may deny yourself a certain kind of meat you enjoy but it is apparent to the man who thinks that the call of the government is a reasonable one and that this self-denial will work no special hardship on any of us.

The Butcher

The butcher carries what his customers demand. He is in business to supply a public demand and the burden can not be passed on to him. It is up to the public, to every individual and if the plan is carried out over the country, and it appears that it will be, the slaughter of calves and lambs will be cut down over 50 per cent and the supply of beef, wool and mutton increased proportionally. A number of local market men have been approached on the subject and it is understood, will permit signs, recommending that the public cooperate in this form of conservation.

to be placed in their places of business.

It does not mean that one can not buy veal or lamb in Brainerd in the future; not by any means, for markets will carry it but it does mean that the business men and public are to be urged to assist the government in this particular line of conserving the natural food supplies of the nation.

Approved by Chamber

Last winter, the Chamber of Commerce, appreciating the immense slaughter of calves and the natural depletion of the supply of beef and of dairy cattle in consequence, issued a circular letter representing a resolution passed by the organization, calling upon farmers of this section of the state to save their calves and give them an opportunity to mature.

Copies of this circular were sent to Washington to members of both houses of congress and replies from legislators indicated their hearty approval of the idea.

Movement General

All over the country, commercial clubs, community organizations and the public generally are rallying to the support of the Public Safety commission in this matter and it is urged by the ladies of this city who have taken up the work of food conservation and kindred work in behalf of the nation that our people indicate their support of the plan by practical demonstrations when they order their meat for the family table.

Mrs. Withington will be pleased to hear from those who have adopted the idea of eliminating veal and lamb from their tables, so far as possible and it is generally conceded that the idea is a good one.

Pleased With Results

Mrs. C. D. Johnson, chairman of the knitting committee, is pleased at the results of the meeting held yesterday. Mrs. Johnson will be at Red Cross headquarters Friday from 2 to 5 to meet any other women who desire to help and arrange work and fit them out.

WIDE AIM OF THE RED CROSS

Following its policy of caring for the health not only of the soldiers and sailors of the United States, but as well that of the civil population, the American Red Cross has established a Bureau of Sanitary Service which will supplement and assist Federal, State and local health authorities in meeting sanitary emergencies created by the war. The work of the bureau will center in the civilian areas surrounding army cantonments.

While sanitary control of National Army Cantonments, National Guard Camps, and Naval Bases will be exercised by the military authorities, the districts immediately adjoining these camps will be under no such jurisdiction. Yet the assembling of large bodies of troops will create new sanitary conditions. These must be met to safeguard the health of civilians as well as of soldiers.

The problem of milk supply, for example, will be greatly enlarged. The supply itself must be doubled and sometimes trebled, and this means increased forces for inspection. In the Southern states, where malaria is a danger, the Red Cross has already undertaken efforts looking toward the extermination of mosquitoes. They must be eliminated not only in the camps proper, but in the surrounding country. Cleaning up pools and other breeding places within a mile radius of camps will mean covering from fifteen to sixty square miles.

When local health authorities are insufficiently equipped to meet these added problems, the Red Cross will offer the assistance of its bureau of sanitary service. It will take the field only upon invitation of the local organization in charge of sanitation. The Public Health service will act as the advance agent, deciding in conjunction with the local authorities what measures are necessary and how much equipment it will take to meet adequately the new conditions.

Whenever requested by state authorities, coupled with a recommendation of the public health service, the Red Cross will furnish any important military area with a sanitary unit. This will consist of the required number of bacteriologists, supervising and subordinate sanitary inspectors, public health nurses and assistants. The Red Cross will be prepared to furnish this unit with equipment and maintenance, including laboratory equipment, transportation, and such supplies as disinfectants and screening to enable the poor to carry out the requisite sanitary precautions in their homes.

W. H. Frost, surgeon of the public health service has been assigned by the surgeon-general at the request of the Red Cross War Council as director of the bureau of sanitary service. Dr. Frost is one of the leaders of his profession, and has had wide experience extending over thirteen years in the public health service.

He was in New Orleans during the yellow fever epidemic of 1905, and has studied poliomyelitis in Buffalo and Batavia, N. Y., in Iowa, and in the New York epidemic of last year. He was also connected with the hygienic laboratories which studied the pollution of the Potomac river and also of the Ohio river.

CLEAR SOUP.

The Way to Make It Like a French Chef.

Four pounds of shin of beef, two pounds of knuckle of veal. Cut the meat off the bones in pieces about a quarter of a pound each and break the bones in four or five pieces. Have ready your stock pot, put into it one ounce of butter, let it just warm, then place the meat at the bottom of the pot with the bones. Let this fry very slowly for one and one-half hours, turning the meat two or three times till it is nicely browned. It must not be allowed to burn, and the pot must be kept covered. The bottom of the pot should be covered by a rich, thick gravy. Now add to it five quarts of boiling water, let it boil, then throw in a teaspoonful of cold water to accelerate the rising of the scum. If this operation is repeated three times it should make a clear consommé.

Have ready two carrots, two turnips, two onions stuck with two cloves, one head of celery, two leeks, one ounce of salt, a fagot of herbs weighing about one ounce, consisting of parsley, thyme, marjoram and tarragon. Put these all in the soup and allow it to simmer four or five hours. Strain and leave to cool for use. When cold, carefully remove all fat. The meat from this stock will bear another addition of water about three quarts, and will boil again for common soup.

Partnerships have been used at different times for the making of both bread and wine.

A Bugle Call From Secretary Houston—

Save All the Food You Can!

D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.

THE department is greatly concerned about the perishable food situation.

It wants and needs your help to secure the maximum of consumption and to insure the preservation of surplus fruits and vegetables.

It believes that through your aid it will be possible not only to avoid waste, but also the discouragement which will follow if the surplus products are not consumed or conserved.

The accomplishment of these purposes will contribute directly to the effective prosecution of the struggle in which we are engaged.

You will recall that the president at the beginning of the war issued a proclamation urging the planting of food crops. This appeal was responded to not only by the farmers and truck growers, but by dwellers in cities and by residents of the suburbs.

It is of the first importance that these crops shall not be wasted. They must be CONSUMED LOCALLY to as large an extent as possible, thereby lessening the drain on our store of staple products and relieving the pressure upon the transportation agencies.

The harvest season is at hand. I am advised that there is a surplus of perishable products.

It is a matter of national and community importance alike that this surplus shall be conserved.

FALL TIPS.

Collars Are Veering Over Into Tailored Effects Now.

Have you noticed the collar changes on dresses and suits? They are decidedly different from the big sailor and capuchin effects that have finished gowns, fashionable and otherwise, for the past three or four seasons—that is, when the collar has been permitted to exist at all.

Those collars that have timidly made their way back are narrow, trig and mannish when a component of the trotteur or tailleur. As the garment becomes more conspicuous it flattens out, assumes greater breadth and inclines to the ornate.

Up to the present moment there seems no place in the revised scheme of fashion for the half-way collar. It must be small, after the manner of the shawl or tuxedo collar, or large, like the muslin neckpieces featured in the portraits of women painted by Rembrandt, Frans Hals or Rubens.

Those that follow the Dutch idea may be of satin, linen or cloth, preferably the first named, with here and there an exception in favor of fillet lace.

It may be that there is some relation, speaking in a tailored sense, between the neat tuxedo collar on the little frock of satin or serge and the mannish sailor hat of pineapple straw with its band of polka dot or striped silk.

Or the adoption of khaki uniforms by women in government employ may have its influence in shaping the neck finish of new gowns and suits. However this may be, it is certain that the present is a transition period in style accessories as they have to do with collars.

It is something of a relief to see the narrow collar. It is a part of the low cut, crossover front of dresses of serge or satin, and, according to the depth of the opening, there may be introduced the plastron of satin or linen cut either high or low. Usually narrow cuffs accompany such a collar.

Bean Soup.

One and one-half cupfuls cooked navy beans, two teaspoonfuls chopped onions, six cupfuls water, one teaspoonful celery salt, two teaspoonfuls lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Mash the beans and put with the onion, celery salt, seasoning and water in a saucepan. Simmer for thirty minutes. Strain if desired. Add lemon juice immediately before serving.

If you like a rather thin bean soup you will enjoy this one. Do not forget the lemon juice. It adds much. The soup costs only a few cents per serving when made with canned baked beans.

There is much speculation regarding the gasoline supply and the possibility of the action that will be taken by the government when the time arrives that will make it imperative to conserve the gasoline for use not only on the United States for war purposes but also to assist the allies in supplying the needs for military purposes. Already warning has been issued by the head of the bureau of mines that the federal government may take drastic action during the war to stop excessive pleasure uses of the automobile and automobile owners are asked to cooperate with them stopping the practice, it being stated that enough gasoline to care for the requirements of America and the allies could be saved if owners of cars would stop all unnecessary and extravagant pleasure riding and if the fuel would be used in a careful and economical manner by both owners and dealers.

Government insurance at low cost to the men is what Uncle Sam is endeavoring to provide as a protection for the families of the soldiers. The proposed bills which call for an insurance of $1,000 at a premium of $8 per year, and up to $10,000, should be made law at once and probably will be as the measures are now before congress. Every possible aid that will be of benefit to the men and their families should be provided.

Just what the creed of the I. W. W. is seems to be somewhat of a problem, but the Benidji Sentinel quotes Haywood, the leader with having given out the statement that "They can't stop us. No matter what they do, we will go on and on until we will take control of all production and work when we please and how much we please. The man who makes the wagon will ride in it himself."

Accident Occurs Near North Branford, Conn., While Cars Are Running at High Speed—Impact Locks Them Together in Mass of Twisted Iron, Steel and Splintered Wood.

North Branford, Conn., Aug. 14.—Seventeen persons were killed and more than twenty injured, some probably fatally, when two trolley cars on the Shore Line Electric railway crashed head on at high speed near here.

Both cars were of heavy construction and the force of the impact locked them together in a mass of twisted iron, steel and splintered wood.

Both cars were well filled with passengers. Most of the dead were women.

The accident occurred on a short stretch of straight single track.

INJUNCTION ISSUED AGAINST LUMBERMEN

Minneapolis, Aug. 14.—Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the United States district court handed down a decree enjoining the Northwestern Lumberman's association from arbitrarily fixing, establishing and maintaining divisions and classifications in the lumber trade in restraint of interstate trade.

This is the noted "lumber trust" case that has been in the courts for years.

The court specifically adds the association is not restrained from maintaining its organization for social or other purposes not inimical to the interests of the government.

The cases came up originally several years ago, the petition stating that the defendants endeavored:

To unreasonably eliminate or restrict competition, except as between retail yards, for the trade of contractors and builders, mail order houses, co-operative yards and the ultimate consumer.

To force the ultimate consumer to buy at retail prices from regularly established and organized retail lumber merchants recognized by the retail association.

To force the ultimate consumer to buy from the regular and recognized retail merchant who is operating a yard in the vicinity where the lumber is to be used.

To prevent the wholesale dealer or manufacturer from quoting prices or selling and shipping to consumers.

The decision filed last March cited the fact the association and other defendants named by the government had resorted to various methods to accomplish the above.

He said that nearly 600 members of the union had enlisted with the Canadian forces, that more than 400 are ready in the army or navy of the United States, and that "thousands of others will follow the Stars and Stripes in the world's war."

Home-Reading Course For Our Citizen-Soldiers

(Issued by the War Department and all rights to reprint reserved)

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and directions. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States Army, to which this Course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 2.

MAKING GOOD AS A SOLDIER

(Preceding Lesson: 1. Your Post of Honor.)

Loyalty

The National Army, in which you are to take your place, truly expresses the American character and ideals. It is a great democratic army. It includes men of all degrees of wealth and education, chosen through fair and open selection by lot. All are brought together on terms of equality. There has been and there will be in this great National Army no favoritism and no "pull." The poor man will drill side by side with the man who has been raised in luxury. Each will learn from the other. The pace each man makes for himself will be determined by his own work and ability.

Developing Soldierly Qualities

The question as to whether it is better to join the colors now or with a later contingent is not worth arguing, since the decision has been made for each man by lot. An ambitious man, however, will be glad to join now. It gives him a better chance for promotion. The commissioned officers of the first contingent are picked men who have voluntarily gone through the hardest kind of training. The officers of later contingents will be drawn largely from the men enlisted in the first contingents. There is plenty of opportunity here for every man to use his brains and his energy and to earn promotion according to his worth. This does not mean easy or quick advancement. It means only that you will have your fair chance—and you would ask for nothing more—to develop yourself and to climb upward step by step.

In order to make good in the National Army you must, first of all, fit yourself to carry with credit the simple title of "American Citizen-Soldier"—one of the proudest titles in the world. This means that you must develop in yourself the qualities of a soldier. The more quickly and thoroughly you cultivate them, the greater will be your satisfaction and success.

There is very little real difference of opinion as to soldierly qualities. They have been determined by ages of experience. Weapons change, but the soldiers who handle the weapons remain much the same.

Three Basic Qualities

There are three basic qualities, without which no man can be a real soldier even though he may temporarily wear a uniform. They are:

Loyalty.

Obedience.

Physical Fitness.

A man without these qualities is in the way and is a source of weakness to an army, both in camp and on the field of battle.

The Articles of War of the United States set forth the military crimes which are punishable by heavy penalties. Among these crimes are desertion, cowardice, insubordination, drunkenness while on duty, sleeping while on duty as a sentinel, disclosing the watchword, and giving aid or comfort to the enemy. Run over this list and you will see that every one of these military crimes can result only from the absence of one or more of the three basic qualities of a soldier.

FIVE AMERICANS ARE LOST

Steamer City of Athens Hits Mine and Goes to Bottom.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Five American passengers were lost when the American steamer City of Athens struck a mine and went down near Cape Town, South Africa, Aug. 10, according to state department dispatches. Ten other passengers and four of the crew also were lost, the dispatches say.

The dispatches say four of the Americans were missionaries and name Mr. and Mrs. Nayard, Miss Robinson and Carolina Thompson.

Hopeless Case.

"Why don't you vary your utterances occasionally by saying something optimistic?"

"What's the use?" asked the gloomy citizen. "The last time I tried to be cheerful the neighbors looked at me as if they thought I was going crazy. I'd rather be considered sane and keep my grouch."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

EASTERN FRONT SHOWS ACTIVITY

Russians and Roumanians Turn on Teutons.

LOSING GROUND IN MOLDAVIA

Austro-Germans Take Railway Town and Probably Have Cut Line Running North—Preparations Are Going Forward for More Serious Fighting in Flanders.

London, Aug. 14.—In repulsing a Teuton attack in the valley of the river Slonik, Western Moldavia, the Russians captured more than 600 prisoners and four machine guns, Petrograd reports.

In the region of Ocna the Russians and Roumanians drove the Austro-Germans from a series of heights.

In the fighting around Fokshani the Russians and Roumanians captured 500 Austrians, but were compelled to retire slightly.

The Russians and Roumanians, having been forced to give up the Fokshani-Marasechti line and retire to the Sereth river, Field Marshal von Mackensen has been enabled to capture Pantziu, a railway town west of Marasechti.

By taking the town the Teutons probably have cut the railway line north, imperiling the Russians and Roumanians in Western Moldavia around Ocna, as the railroad north from Marasechti was one of their two means of obtaining supplies and reinforcements.

Western Front Remains Quiet.

Infantry fighting on the Western front, and especially in Flanders, has not been marked in the past twenty-four hours.

In Flanders the opposing troops apparently are resting in preparation for further infantry activity.

The Germans can hardly permit the British to hold the important salient east of Ypres and between Pilkem and Holbeke without first making additional efforts to straighten out their front. By widening the salient Field Marshal Haig adds to the insecurity of the German line from Dixmude to the coast as well as the front southwest toward Lens.

French troops again have repulsed German attacks along the Aisne front in an attempt to recapture ground south of Ailles. East of the positions the French took the offensive and made a small advance. Elsewhere on the French front the artillery fighting continues violent.

DINING AT SOUP KITCHENS

Hamburg Residents Have Difficulty in Securing Food.

Copenhagen, Aug. 14.—More than 180,000 residents of Hamburg now are being fed in the municipal soup kitchens, owing to the difficulty of obtaining food supplies for individual households. The number has fallen off somewhat now that fresh vegetables are obtainable.

It reached the maximum in April, May and June, when between 230,000 and 240,000 persons visited the kitchens daily for their meals.

The above figures do not take into consideration the school kitchens.

BRITISH CABINET CRISIS DISAPPEARS

London, Aug. 14.—A day of great political excitement in London concluded with the announcement that George Nicoll Barnes, minister of pensions, had been appointed to replace Arthur Henderson, as Labor member of the war cabinet. The appointment, according to a semi-official statement, has the approval of all the other Labor members of the government.

Thus the crisis which seemed to threaten the existence of the government was solved at least temporarily and unless unexpected developments occur there will be no appeal to the country.

The government announced to parliament that the ministers had decided not to grant passports to delegates to the Stockholm international Socialist congress, thereby falling in line with other allied governments in this respect.

NEEDS FIVE MILLION MEN

Senator McCumber Urges Vigorous Prosecution of War.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The United States must remain in the war against Germany until world peace is assured, Senator Porter J. McCumber declared, discussing the war revenue bill before the senate.

An army of 5,000,000 men and $40,000,000,000 will be needed to prosecute the war unless there is a sudden and unexpected end, Senator McCumber declared, in urging that since this generation must give its blood the next ought to pay a major portion of the monetary expense.

"DON'T WORRY," SAYS BISHOP.

An Evil That Shortens Life, Dr. Woodcock Assets.

"Be as the bird, which flies above the wind blown dust and is therefore not sullied." This is Bishop Charles E. Woodcock's advice to those who worry. In his sermon at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, the bishop, who is the head of a Kentucky diocese, said:

"The people are getting very badly mixed up. They are shortening their lives by ten years through senseless worry. Worry weakens the heart and hardens the arteries. People are carried away by the mistaken idea that one cannot live without worry. Men and women doing anything on God's earth should have no time to weaken their souls by senseless worry."

"Worry is an evil. It destroys more than rum or vice. Worry wastes life. It is as sinful as drinking or gambling. It is a guilty and cowardly thing. It is always a personal weakness."

"The absolute cure for worry is to be as the bird, which flies above the wind blown dust and is therefore not sullied. So we must fly above the worries of the earth."

THE BEST THEATRE

Do Something Better Than the Other Fellow---

and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will, the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.

FIREMAN LARKIN CALLED TO REWARD

Northern Pacific Fireman Injured in Barrows Freight Wreck Died Tuesday Morning

UNABLE TO WITHSTAND SHOCK

Home was in Milwaukee. With Road Seven Years and About to be Engineer

James Larkin, Northern Pacific fireman injured in the freight wreck at Barrows, died at a local hospital at 4:45 Tuesday morning, unable to withstand the shock suffered. He was 36 years old and had been with the Northern Pacific seven years and was about to be made engineer. Before that he had worked for other roads out of St. Paul.

His home was in Milwaukee, Wis., and his mother and a brother were at his bedside before the end. He lost his left leg at the hip, was bruised all over and was thought to have also sustained internal injuries.

He leaves a mother, Mrs. Mary Larkin, three brothers John in the printing business in Milwaukee, George a fireman out of Racine on the Northwestern road and Edwin of Milwaukee and one sister, Milla Cella Larkin of Milwaukee.

The body was sent home today.

 BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY *****

For a boy to be dead broke is to be on the bum. But when Mrs. Philip Van Valkenberg, wealthy American woman, marries a dead broke Portuguese duke, the latter is politely called an impecunious nobleman.

"Here I have carefully nursed my credit at the coal dealer," said a Brainerd man, "and squared my last winter's balance in July, and thought I was all solid for the coming winter. Then they switch to cash down. That cash business is sure in restraint of the credit trade."

You never in your life heard of Crow Wing county ever going entirely on the blink with a total crop failure. That's what happened to some western states where the railroads are now hauling supplies at half price to tide over the farmers. Crow Wing county, with its diversified farming, always has some crops or like this year, all crops making a good showing and the real farmer has no kick coming in Crow Wing county.

Some towns do not have to be big ones to enter into competition with Brainerd. Fort Ripley, so reliable farmers report, sells mowers $15 cheaper than Brainerd and pays better prices for potatoes. Brainerd Business Men's Association should look into this.

Patrons at Clarence Smith's Cash and Carry meat market became alarmed Saturday evening when they heard a feeble voice utter:

"Let me out please."

It came from the ice box and one present, bolder than the rest, opened the refrigerator and released Smith, who had accidentally imprisoned himself while cutting a choice cut of meat.

There are some of the finest chickens with the street carnival of the Clifton-Kelley shows. Some are in a cage under one of the Pullmans on the siding near the depot, fine feathered spring chickens and a few roosters too.

The first registered mail package from Trommald was sent to A. G. Trommald, Brainerd, after whom the new thriving village on the north Cuyuna iron range was named.

The carnival company buys all its electric current, except the thrills in the shows, from the city of Brainerd.

BEN KAISER NEAR PEQUOT

Ben Kaiser, St. Joseph's hospital patient who escaped Sunday evening while in a delirium, wearing only underwear, night gown, and bath robe, shoes and stockings, was picked up on the road near Pequot at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon.

His wanderings in open air sufficiently restored his reason to enable him to give his name and home address to the automobile party and they took him to his home in Pillager and there he has remained ever since.

LOG BREAKS WOMAN'S LEG

Mrs. Herbert Flansburg, of St. Mathias, wife of the county commissioner, broke her right leg near the ankle when a log fell from an old barn which had previously been badly damaged by a wind storm. Her husband had partially dismantled the log building. She passed by while putting the sheep in the lot and was thrown to the ground by the log, which rolled from the building without warning.

MRS. JOSEPH WEITZEL

Passed Away at Home of Her Sister. 418 South Sixth Street, at 10 O'clock Monday Night

Mrs. Lydia C. Weitzel, wife of Joseph Weitzel, passed away at 10 o'clock Monday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elber C. Baker, 418 South Sixth street. She was 51 years old. Cancer was the cause of her demise, from which she had suffered severely since February.

Of a Christian patient, loving nature, she was calmly resigned to her fate. Her last wish was that she might live long enough to see her son and his wife and their little baby at Christmas tide.

She was born in Quebec, Canada. She was married February 22, 1886 to Mr. Weitzel at Dayton, Minn. They came later to Brainerd where they resided 25 years before leaving for their present home in Edmond, Saskatchewan, Canada, where their son Frank also lives.

She leaves five sisters, Mrs. Elber C. Baker, of Brainerd, Mrs. J. H. Rice of Wadena, Mrs. Bowman of Minneapolis, Mrs. Putvain of New Bedford, Mass., and Miss Anna LeMay of Edmond, Saskatchewan. Her three brothers were Samuel of Central Falls, R. I., Wilfred of New Bedford, Mass., and Napoleon who has gone to the war.

She was a devoted member of the Catholic church, believed thoroughly in its teachings and exemplified them in her life, finding much comfort and strength there in the hour of her trials and sufferings.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the Catholic church. To the sorrowing relatives is extended the deep sympathy of the community.

 ROLL OF HONOR *****

William Hodgson, who enlisted with the Canadian overseas contingent, was reported wounded today on the battle front somewhere in France. He is a brother of J. R. Hodgson of this city. It was stated that the wounds were not serious as yet. He enlisted about three years ago and had escaped bullets, gas and bombs unscathed until this week.

The navy offers a short cut to citizenship and many aliens are taking advantage of it. They take out first papers and then join the navy. After one year in the service, with good behavior, Uncle Sam will make an alien a full-fledged citizen. Friendly aliens will be accepted for enlistment in the navy, but no Germans need apply. Men who have already taken out their first papers will have an opportunity to get their final papers after serving one year. The navy recruiting station at Duluth wants ship cooks and bakers for the period of the war.

HARVEST REPORT

Bureau of Immigration Received Report from Crow Wing County. All Crops Being Good

In the reports received by the bureau of immigration from its crop reporters in various countries, this mention is made of Crow Wing county:

All crops in Crow Wing county are quite good. Rye and winter wheat are being harvested. Early potatoes are good, late potatoes fair. Corn is late and must have a late fall to mature. Enough local help to do the farm work.

WANT SURGICAL DRESSINGS NOW

American Red Cross Needs Them for 188 Battleships and for Destroyers

RED CROSS COURSE REQUIRED

Chicago Chapter will Supply the Battleship Chicago, New York supplies New York

At the request of William C. Braisted, Surgeon General of the United States navy, the American Red Cross has called upon ten of the larger chapters of the society nearest New York to supply at the earliest possible moment surgical dressings for each of 188 battleships and destroyers. Each ship will require thousands of compresses and bandages, the entire consignment making a total of more than six hundred thousand surgical dressings.

The surgical dressings are to be prepared by the women workers in the Red Cross chapters at Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Atlanta, Boston and the Northeastern division, these chapters being chosen because of their proximity to New York will expedite delivery. It is expected to fill the order within the next ten days.

Women qualified in the various chapters to make surgical dressings are working night and day for the rapid completion of the work. Only women who have taken the Red Cross course in the making of these bandages are eligible to engage in the work.

With the declaration of war there has been a rapid increase in the number of women taking the Red Cross surgical dressing courses. In June, 4,144 certificates were issued to women who had taken the course of eight lessons of three hours each, and in the first ten days of July, 1279 certificates were issued.

Each chapter will supply the battleship named after that particular state and others in which they might have a geographical interest. Thus the Chicago chapter will supply the Chicago and the Illinois. New York will supply the New York and the Albany. These boxes as completed will be shipped by chapters direct to the Bush Terminal at New York for distribution to the ships.

NORTH SIDE ACCIDENT

Car Driven by Dorothy Fishes and George Roth on Bicycle in Collision This Afternoon

A car driven by Dorothy Fishes and Louis Roth's 9 year boy George riding a bicycle, collided on North Broadway near Ivy at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Two doctors called attended to the Roth boy and pronounced him not seriously hurt. The boy was able to walk home. The whole neighborhood was in hysterics following the accident.

LUM PARK

There will be no dance at Lum park on Tuesday evening. The management will devote their attention to a special carnival week dance, to be given Friday evening. Everything is being done to make this dance "The Dance of the Season."

Next week the big Red Cross dance will be given. All proceeds of this dance will be turned over to the local Red Cross society. When you are asked to buy a ticket by one of the solicitors—remember that you as well as your neighbor must do your "bit." Do not only buy a ticket but boost the dance and get the other fellow to go. During the dance special features will be introduced by the musicians.

Get a home or a "Liberty lot" on easy terms. Two or three are better. I will help enclose a house so you can live therein, while applying your rent money on the purchase price. This is the sure road towards independence, comfort, satisfaction and peace. Would you be free, see Nettleton, P. E.

CHAS. B. TRIPP

"The Armless Marvel," with the great Clifton-Kelley Shows

BIG CROWDS ARE IN ATTENDANCE

At the First Night Performances of the Great Clifton-Kelley Carnival Shows

ATTRactions ARE ENJOYED

N. E. Brainerd Improvement Association Booked a Good Attraction and it Will Make Good

With the blare of the band and the raucous cry of the barker on the different attractions the Great Clifton-Kelley Shows under the auspices of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement Association opened their week's engagement to an immense crowd. All the evening the pleasure seeking people of Brainerd kept the different attractions busy and from the opinions one heard all were more than well pleased. The attractions all seem to be above the ordinary carried by carnival companies and the utter absence of any gambling is a commendable feature.

The shows are located on Fifth and Laurel and one is first greeted by the old reliable merry-go-round, but more elaborate than ever, then comes the Athletic Show with Ollie Oleson meeting all comers, right across the street is the Rocky Mountain Cabaret with its host of pretty singers, dancers and entertainers, Gregory's museum of wonders and freaks of nature, Sampson the big snake and the Ferris wheel are next. And now comes the big feature, Wilson's Trained Wild Animal circus with its three big out of the ordinary acts headed by Tom Wilmouth and his eight forest bred lions including Duke, the untameable. This is no act for the weakling or nervous as it is sure a thriller from start to finish. Miss Lillian Aurora gives a wonderful exhibition of nerve with her riding lion as does Marguerette with her group of pumas, leopards and jaguars. It is a big feature in every sense. The Yankee Doodle Girls give a vaudeville show that would do credit to any city theatre and the Dixie Minstrels measure up to the standard of any colored minstrels that have visited the city.

Special mention should be made of Chas. B. Tripp, the armless marvel, known as the eighth wonder of the world. This man gives a wonderful demonstration using his toes for the same purpose one uses hands and arms, and the things that he does are almost beyond belief, he really might be termed an added feature. Taking it all together it is a big clean high class company presented in a business like manner and if the people want amusement it goes to prove it is just as easy to get the best as to book second class attractions.

Rounds came next and by stalling and holding to the mat succeeded in staying the allotted time but the fans of the game certainly got a run for their money judging from the amount of yelling and noise.

The supporters of Clark are all heated up over his showing against Oleson and tonight are going to match him against Oleson for a finish bout, until one or the others shoulders are pinned to the mat no matter how long it takes. This should be some match as Oleson's manager says he must throw his man to hold his contract.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends in Brainerd and Barrows, hospital nurses and doctors at the Northern Pacific railway hospital, members of the firemen and engineers unions for the kindness and sympathy shown our son and brother, James Larkin, who was called to his reward.

AND HAD OLESON PUFFING

Young Rounds Also Stayed the Allotted Time and Wrestling Fans Got Money's Worth

Last night rather proved to Ollie Oleson that he is not such a stumbling block in the wrestling line as he supposed. In his exhibition given at the Athletic show with the Great Clifton-Kelley attractions. He issues an open challenge to meet all comers no one barred.

Oleson must have had an extra pressure of steam aboard last night as he undertook to throw two men in thirty minutes, his challenge being accepted by Young Rounds and Blackie Clark of this city.

Clark proved to be a Tartar and for thirty minutes Oleson had his hands full in every sense of the word. He started to rough it up once or twice and cries of "cut the struggle hold" were heard but Clark was game and stayed the limit, having Oleson puffing and claiming to his manager that he was too tough a boy for thirty minutes.

Rounds came next and by stalling and holding to the mat succeeded in

"The Barrier," Famous Novel, In a Great Photo-Drama

Swift Action, Startling Situations, Daring Deeds and Charming Romance Give Typical Rex Beach Tone to Picture

"The Barrier" marks a new epoch and sets a new standard.

It is a picture for all types, all ages, all classes of people. It gives the confirmed "movie fan" a new idea of the possibilities of motion pictures—it moves, thrills and fascinates those for whom the ordinary picture has no appeal.

Action and Realism

Such scenes as "The Barrier" depicts have never been seen in film dramas. They are unique in conception, in setting in action, in startling realism, intense, absorbing human interest.

The love story is one of unusual beauty and charm gripping your heart as no other story ever did. Big, dramatic movements follow one another breathlessly. Daring, dangerous situations arise every turn. The fights are real fights. That terrific struggle for the kidnapped girl on the desolate banks of the Yukon River is a classic. Nothing like was ever before seen in motion pictures.

"What is the 'Barrier'?"

"The barrier" of race and blood that seems to stand between Necia and Lieutenant Burrell presents a problem that grips your emotions and your sympathies. The love scenes of "The Barrier" have an intensity—a genuine, wholehearted fervor that stirs the emotions of the most hardened theatregoer.

Poleon of the Great Heart

And Poleon, the laughing, singing guide and prospector, chivalrous in love, terrible in battle, and majestic in his great renunciation, is the strongest, finest character seen on the stage in many a year. His farewell at the great climax is the most powerful scene ever filmed—rich intense human interest and pathos. See the "Barrier" now—you will enjoy every minute of it.

KANSAS CITY NEARLY DRY

Two Hundred and Sixty Saloons Voluntarily Close.

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—Two hundred and sixty saloons and drinking places voluntarily closed when representatives of the United States district attorney's office began collecting evidence against liquor establishments located within the half-mile dry zone surrounding military camps, outlined in President Wilson's proclamation.

The places closed included two breweries, bars in virtually all large hotels and restaurants and dozens of downtown saloons.

Units of troops stationed about the city awaiting entrainment to concentration camps brought the majority of saloons in the city within the area.

DRYING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

How to Save Surplus Products of the Garden.

CHEAP AND USEFUL DRIER

United States Department of Agriculture Gives Valuable Directions For Conserving Food by Simple and Inexpensive Home Processes—Different Ways of Drying Food Products.

[From United States department of agriculture.]

Fruits and vegetables may be dried in the home by simple processes and stored for future use. The processes are sun drying, drying by artificial heat and drying by air blast. These, of course, may be combined. In general, most fruits or vegetables to be dried quickly must be shredded or cut into slices, because many are too large to dry quickly or are covered with a skin, the purpose of which is to prevent drying out. When freshly cut fruits or vegetables are to be dried by means of artificial heat they should be exposed first to gentle heat and later to the higher temperatures. If the air applied at the outset is of too high a temperature the cut surfaces of the sliced fruits or vegetables become hard or scorched, covering the juicy interior so that it will not dry out. Generally it is not desirable that the air temperature in drying should go above 140 degrees to 150 degrees F., and it is better to keep it well below this point. Insects and insect eggs are killed by exposure to heat of this temperature.

It is important to know the degree of heat in the drier, and this cannot be determined very accurately except by using a thermometer. The reason sun drying is popularly believed to give fruits and vegetables a sweeter flavor lies probably in the fact that in the sun they never are scorched, whereas in the oven or over a stove scorching is likely to occur unless careful attention is given them.

Drying of certain products can be completed in some driers within two or three hours. The material should be stirred or turned several times during the drying in order to secure a uniform product.

When sufficiently dried fruit should be so dry that it is impossible to press water out of the freshly cut ends of the pieces and will not show any of the natural grain of the fruit on being broken and yet not so dry that it will snap or crackle. It should be leathery and pliable.

Preparation of Food For the Drier. In large factories the vegetables are put through special shredders and slicers not adapted for home use, but convenient and inexpensive machines which can be used to great advantage are on the market. The meat grinder with its special disks can be used in certain cases, the common kraut slicer will cut large vegetables into thin slices, such as potatoes and cabbage, and the rotary hand slicer is adapted for use on a very wide range of material. A large sharp kitchen knife may be used when a handier cutting device is not available. Care should be taken that the material is sliced thin enough but not too thin. From an eighth to a quarter of an inch is a fair thickness for most of the common vegetables to be sliced and dried.

To secure a fine quality of dried products much depends upon having the vegetables absolutely fresh, young, tender and perfectly clean. If steel knives are used in paring and cutting have them clean and bright so as not to discolor the vegetable. The earthy smell and flavor will cling to root crops if they are not washed thoroughly before slicing, and one decayed root may favor several kettles of soup if the slices from it are scattered through a whole batch of dried material. High grade dried "root" vegetables can only be made from peeled roots.

Blanching of vegetables is considered desirable by some housekeepers, although it is not strictly essential to successful drying. Sun drying has much to recommend it, since it requires no expenditure of fuel and there is little danger of the product becoming overheated. Dust, however, gathers on the product, and unless it is protected carefully flies and especially certain insects which habitually attack dried fruits will lay their eggs upon it.

These eggs later will hatch out, and the worms, or larvae, will riddle the dried fruits or vegetables, rendering them unfit for the table.

Fruits and vegetables when dried in the sun generally are spread on large trays of uniform size so constructed that they can be stacked one on top of the other and protected from rain by means of a cover made of oilcloth, canvas or roofing paper.

A very cheap tray can be made of strips of lumber three-fourths of an inch thick and two inches wide, which form the sides and ends, and lath which is nailed on to form the bottom. Spaces one-eighth inch wide should be left between the laths for ventilation, and the trays can be raised off the ground by placing them on poles or an improvised trestle. As laths are four feet long, these lath trays are most economical of material when made four feet in length.

A cheap and very satisfactory drier for use over the kitchen stove can be made by any handy boy or carpenter from a small amount of small mesh galvanized wire netting and a number of laths or strips of wood about one-half inch thick and two inches wide. The screen may be tacked directly on the framework to make the drying shelves, or the framework can be made to support separate trays. By using two laths nailed together the framework can be stiffened and larger trays made if desirable. This form or any of the lighter makes of driers can be suspended from the ceiling over the kitchen range or over the oil, gasoline or gas stove, and it will utilize the hot air which rises during the cooking hour. It can be raised out of the way or swung to one side by a crane made of lath.

A good home drier is the cook stove oven. Bits of food, leftovers, especially sweet corn, can be dried on plates in a very slow oven or on the back of the cook stove and saved for winter use. If the oven is very warm the door should be left ajar and the temperature of the oven often noted. Trays for use in the oven can be made from a convenient sized galvanized wire screen by bending up the edges one or two inches. Good use can also be made of an electric fan.

Directions For Drying. Many of the products for which directions are given here may be dried either with or without preliminary blanching. In such cases both methods are described.

ALTERNATIVE METHODS ARE DESIGNATED BY LETTERS A, B, C, ETC.

Sweet Corn. Only very young and tender corn should be used for drying, and it should be prepared at once after gathering.

(a) Cook in boiling water two to five minutes, long enough to set the milk. Cut the kernels from the cob with a sharp knife, taking care not to cut off pieces of the cob. Spread thinly on trays and place in position to dry. Stir occasionally until dry.

(b) Boil or steam on the cob eight to ten minutes to set the milk. To improve flavor a teaspoonful of salt to a gallon of water may be used. Drain well and cut corn from cob, using a very sharp and flexible knife. Cut grains fine, only halfway down to the cob, and scrape out the remainder of grain, being careful not to scrape off any of the chaff next to the cob. Dry from three to four hours at 110 to 145 degrees F.

(c) The corn may be dried in the sun. Dry in oven ten to fifteen minutes and finish drying in the sun. Sun drying, of course, is not satisfactory in moist weather.

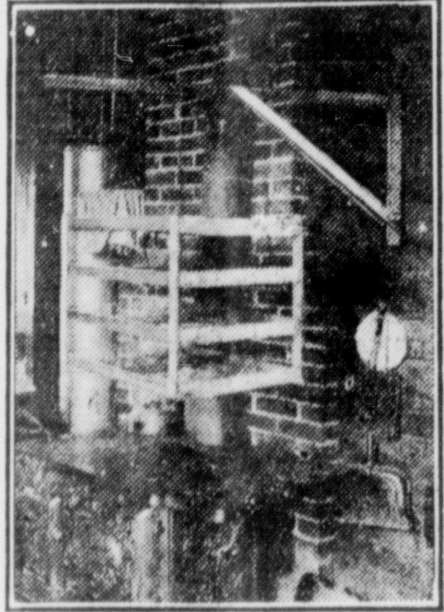

Pack in cartons or boxes for a few days to "condition."

String or Snap Beans. All varieties of string beans can be dried, but only beans in ideal condition for table use should be selected for this purpose.

(a) Wash, remove stem, tip and "strings." Cut or break the beans into pieces one-half to one inch long and place on trays and dry. They also can be run through the slicer and then dried quickly.

(b) Prepare as directed above, but instead of cutting the beans thread them on coarse, strong thread, making long "necklaces" of them, and hang them about the stove or out of doors until dry. An old fashioned recipe calls for boiling the pods until nearly cooked through before drying.

(c) Wash and string beans carefully. The very young and tender beans can be dried whole. Those that are full grown should be cut in one-fourth to one inch lengths with vegetable slicer or a sharp knife. They are then put in a bag of cheesecloth or in a wire basket and blanched in boiling water for six to ten minutes, depending on the maturity of the bean. One-half teaspoonful of soda may be added to each gallon of boiling water to help set the green color in the beans. Remove surface moisture by placing between two towels or by exposing to the sun and air for a short time. Dry young string beans two hours, more matured beans three hours. Begin drying at temperature of 110 degrees F. and raise temperature gradually to 145 degrees F.

Wax beans are dried in the same manner as the green string beans.

Peas. (a) Shell and spread on trays and dry. (b) Shell full grown peas with non-edible pod, blanch the peas from three to five minutes, remove surplus moisture, spread in single layer on trays and dry from three to three and one-half hours. Begin drying at 110 degrees F., raising temperature very slowly in about one and one-half hours to 145 degrees F. Continue drying one and one-half or two hours at 145 degrees F.

(c) Shell full grown peas, passing through a meat grinder, then spread on trays and dry. Whole peas take longer to dry, but when cooked they resemble fresh peas. The ground peas dry more quickly, but make a product which can be used successfully only in the preparation of soup or puree.

(d) When drying the very young and tender sugar peas use the pod also. Wash and cut in quarter inch pieces. Blanch in boiling water six minutes. Remove surplus moisture and dry the same length of time and at the same temperature as string beans. It is not necessary to use soda when blanching peas.

Garden Beets, Calfrots, Rhubarb, Etc. Beets.—(a) Select young, quickly grown, tender beets. Wash, peel, slice about one-eighth inch thick and dry. (b) Boil the whole beets with skin until a little more than three-fourths done. Dip in cold water, peel and slice into one-eighth or one-quarter inch slices. Dry two and one-half to three hours at 110 degrees to 150 degrees F. Carrots.—Varieties having a large, woody core should be avoided. (a) Wash, peel, slice lengthwise into pieces about one-eighth inch thick and dry. (b) Clean, scrape or pare and slice into one-eighth inch slices. Blanch six minutes, remove surface moisture and dry two and one-half to three hours. Begin drying at 110 degrees F. and raise temperature gradually to 150 degrees F. Parsnips, kohlrabi, celeriac and salsify are dried by the same methods.

Rhubarb.—Choose young and succulent growth. Prepare as for stewing, by skinning the leaf stalks and cutting into pieces about one-fourth inch to one-half inch in length. Do not use the blade of the leaf.

Pumpkins and Squash. (a) Select sound, well grown specimens. Cut into strips. Peel these, remove all seeds and the soft part surrounding them. Cut strips into smaller bits not over one-fourth inch thick and two inches long and dry. (b) Pare and cut into about one-half inch strips and blanch three minutes. Remove surface moisture and dry slowly from three to four hours, raising temperature from 110 to 140 degrees F.

Celery tops, parsley, mint, sage and herbs of all kinds need not be blanched, but should be washed well and dried in the sun or in the drier.

Apples, Pears and Quinces. Early varieties and sweet apples are not well adapted to drying. Winter apples should be used for this purpose. (a) Peel, core, trim and slice one-fourth inch thick. Dip in weak salt solution containing eight teaspoonfuls of salt to one gallon of water. Spread on trays and dry. It is only necessary to dry apples long enough for them to become tough and somewhat leathery. (b) Pare, core and cut into eighths, or core and slice in rings, using fruit or vegetable slicer. As apples discolor quickly, do not let them stand long before drying. To prevent discoloration as the fruit is prepared it may be dipped for one minute in a cold salt bath, using one ounce of salt to one gallon of water. Remove surplus moisture and dry at 110 degrees to 150 degrees F., raising temperature gradually. Dry from four to six hours and longer if necessary.

Pears are dried in the same way as apples. They may be steamed ten minutes before drying. Treat quinces the same way as pears.

Peaches. Peaches usually are dried unpeeled, but they will be better if peeled before drying. (a) Remove the stones, cut the fruit into halves, or preferably into smaller pieces, and spread on trays to dry. (b) Cut in halves, pit, lay in trays pit side up and dry at same temperature and for same length of time as apples.

Will Not Go to Stockholm Dr. Jordan Refuses to Be Delegate to Peace Meeting.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Stanford university, treasurer of the People's Council of America and prominent peace advocate, will not be a delegate to the peace council to be held in Stockholm, according to a telegram received here.

Dr. Jordan said that even if the government should alter its decision to refuse passports to delegates to the council he would not act for any of the United States peace organizations.
